ARMED WITH THE POWER OF

INTEGRITY

Imagine that you're Bob Smith (actual client's name changed) – a hardworking, fairly content model citizen. Then, out of the blue, you're accused of a crime, and your life completely changes. In the eyes of the Texas criminal justice system, you immediately stop being Bob Smith, and start being Cause Number DIDC092367198. You know the police report doesn't tell the whole story, but the system sees you as guilty until proven innocent and will do anything in its considerable power to convict you.

That's where we come in.

Righting this kind of wrong is the reason we developed the Sumpter & Gonzalez Integrity Approach. Our clients deserve a real chance at justice, and that's not possible if assumptions, biases, and speculation rule the proceedings.

The Integrity Approach starts by assigning one of our experienced social workers to a client's case to act as a mitigation expert, using the skills of the trade to understand the strengths and virtues of our client, comprehend the circumstances that led to the arrest, and to make sure who our client really is doesn't get lost amidst the stories floating around about Cause Number DIDC092367198.

Armed with this crucial understanding of our client, the lawyers of Sumpter & Gonzalez use their tools of extensive factual investigation and legal research in order to defend them from a position of real strength. And, while it may be a new approach to the practice of criminal defense, it's already solved the legal issues of hundreds of relieved and appreciative clients.

At Sumpter & Gonzalez, we practice as a team of uniquely skilled lawyers and experienced support staff members rather than as overworked individuals. This approach lets us not only assign your case to a lawyer who specializes in a particular type of law, but it allows that lawyer to ignore other distractions and focus completely on you.

If you look, you'll find that most criminal defense lawyers are solo practitioners. In addition to defending clients, they're also the receptionist, the paralegal, the billing department, and more. You can't possibly get their undivided attention, because they can't possibly offer it.

Our staffing method allows us to seek out and identify the best possible associates, like our staff of social workers and psychologists, who can perform mitigation tasks much better than a lawyer ever could.

YOU'RE UNIQUE. YOUR CASE IS UNIQUE. THAT'S WHY OUR APPROACH IS UNIQUE, TOO.

OUR APPROACH

As you'd expect from a law firm that handles its staff in a smarter way, we also use a fresh and customized approach to each individual case. While some cases can be resolved with solid legal research and common sense, others demand a more in-depth approach. We explore every detail of each client's situation in order to determine whether a particular case is one in which we'd be best served focusing on mitigation, on out-lawyering the opposition, or both. In every case, we develop a personalized and fluid strategy that can be continually modified and strengthened throughout its course as the circumstances demand it.

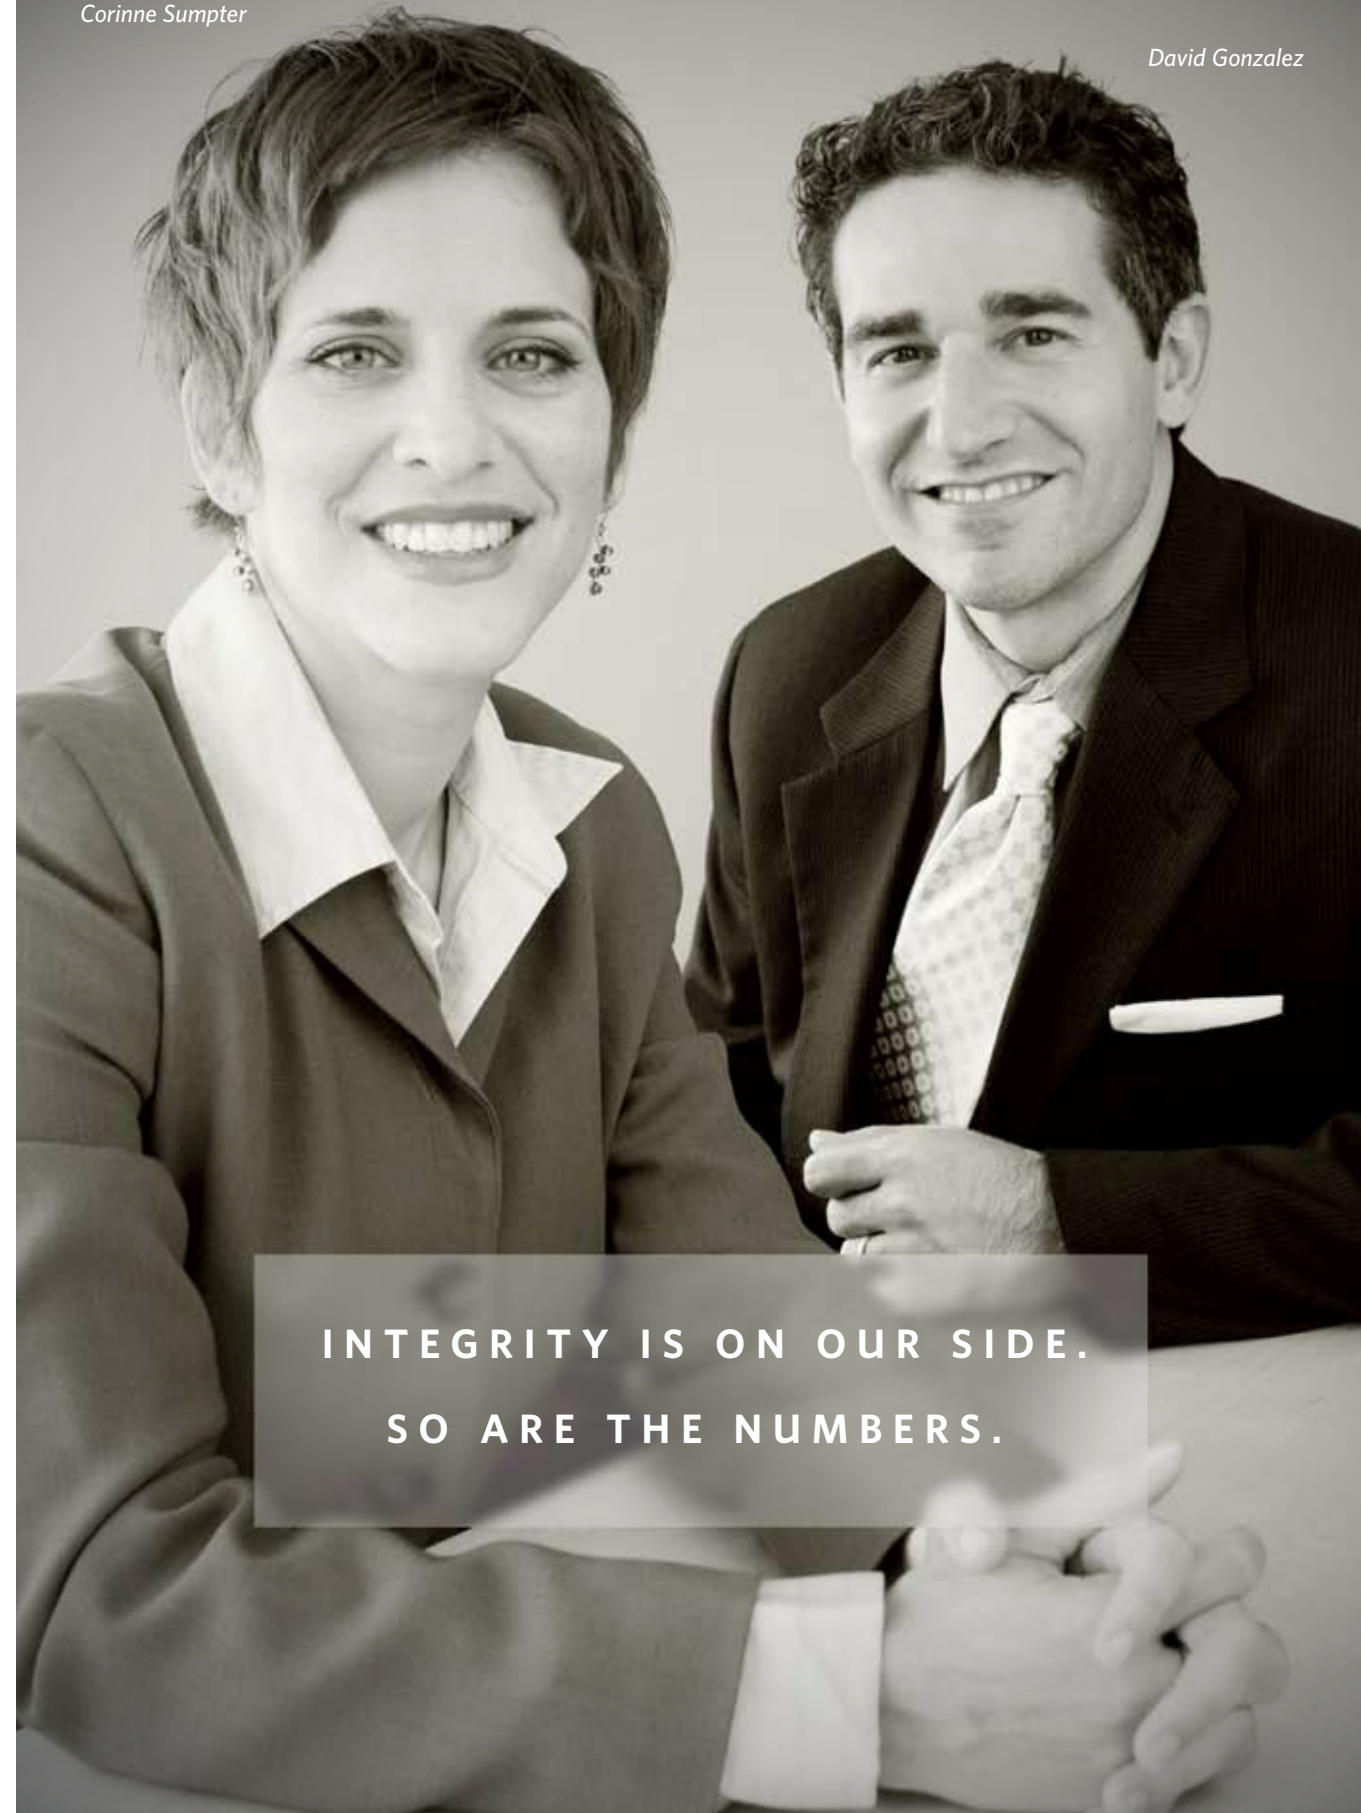

We'll put our win/loss record up against anyone. And, since we address each case with the goal of diverting you from prosecution entirely, we're able to succeed in your case early, when other firms would be waiting around for a verdict.

Our attorneys are graduates from law schools including Stanford, NYU, and the University of Texas. Their honors include being recognized as finalists for Outstanding Young Lawyer of the Year by the American Bar Association, serving as president of the Texas Fair Defense Project, and training for trial as Prettyman Fellows at the Georgetown University Law Center. And all of them practice the Integrity Approach for one reason: because it gets them extraordinary results.

INTEGRITY IS ON OUR SIDE.
SO ARE THE NUMBERS.

WE'VE BEEN KNOWN TO REPRESENT AS MANY AS

757,688 PEOPLE

AT ONCE.

A single crime doesn't affect just one victim. It tears at the fabric of the community and creates an atmosphere of fear for everyone. That's why, in addition to inventing a new approach to the practice of criminal law, Sumpter & Gonzalez has a new approach to investing in the community.

Every day, you can find us in public schools mentoring the children of incarcerated parents. You can find us running meetings as the presidents of local non-profits, participating as vestry members of our churches, serving on advisory committees for criminal justice policy, and giving presentations to civil attorneys, college students, and community groups about how criminal law affects them.

It may not be a recipe for legal riches and financial excess, but it's a pretty good formula for reducing crime and restoring a sense of civic pride.

If you know this could be the biggest decision you'll ever make...

If you want a firm that you can call at 3:00 in the morning...

If you want a law firm that represents the good in people...

If you want the firm that other lawyers hire...

If you want the best possible chance to get your life back to normal...

HERE'S HOW TO KNOW IF WE'RE RIGHT FOR YOU:

SUMPTER & GONZALEZ.
THE POWER OF INTEGRITY
